

My family wants Wisconsin's No Call List law to remain as is. Everyday my family is innundated with advertising be it on t.v., the radio, movies, newspapers, billboards, the sides of buses... The home should be one place where we can regulate marketers.

If I have made the decision to no longer use a banking, credit, or telephone service, why would I want to be bothered by telemarketing calls trying to get me to use that service again? I've made my decision and the bothersome telemarketing calls are only going to solidify that decision.

Since I signed up for the Wisconsin No Call List, I've received relatively few telemarketing calls. A happy peace has reigned. Let me keep that peace.
